

Most notably, Ms. Gilson has played a key leadership role in her capacity as the volunteer Chairperson for the LSN's Discipline Committee for over 4 years. Prior to this, she was a Vice-Chair of the Discipline Committee. Taking on the role and responsibility to ensure the public interest is protected, while looking into matters that relate to a member's conduct requires due diligence, sound judgement, and utmost professionalism, all of which Ms. Gilson has continuously demonstrated her commitment to over these years. In addition, she has been tremendously generous with her time.

Her knowledge and understanding of the law will no doubt make an important contribution as the Law Society takes steps to review its discipline process. We are thankful for her continued commitment as the Law Society embarks on this important initiative.

Overall, Ms. Gilson's leadership has made an invaluable difference for our Law Society, its membership and members of the public.

On behalf of the Law Society Executive and its members, we are honored to have Kimberley Gilson as a member of the Nunavut Bar. We are pleased to award her with the Neil Sharkey 2017 Volunteer Award for having demonstrated outstanding dedication and engagement and we thank her for her ongoing commitment.

Learn more about the Hon. Justice Neil Sharkey Award and past recipients here.